10th International Festival of Computer Arts, Maribor

Since 2003 ArtNetLab is an autonomous production unit of intermedia art in Slovenia. In ESC Gallery in Graz, Austria, ArtNetLab presents techno-performances on interactive devices, projects developed as open source art and interactive artinternet video projects. This selection has been presented at the 10th International Festival of Computer Arts in Maribor, Slovenija. Most of the projects have been developed in collaboration with the Laboratory for Computer Vision at the Faculty of Computer and Information Sciences, University in Ljubljana.

ArtNetLab is an experimental unit that connects art and science. At the same time, sponsored and promoted by the Slovene Ministry of Culture, it enables young intermedia artists to develop their projects using the latest information technologies, with which they can be selected for computer arts festivals in Slovenia and abroad.
