A country like a work of art

Samuel Žbogar, Ambassador of the Republic of Slovenia

Slovenia is a picturesque country undulating with a specific rhythm. European history has been adding colour layers to the canvas of the "Slovene story", slowly at times and briskly at others. But whatever the colour of the period, the country itself has always been enveloped in green. Green as the colour of primeval tranquillity and beauty.

For centuries, Slovene lands were a geographic crossroads between the Alps on the one hand, and the Mediterranean cultural area on the other. The diverse cultures interweaving in the region are today reflected in the Slovene everyday and in its culture, which is much older than the State of Slovenia as such. Slovene culture was mostly developing in unfavourable circumstances, yet it persisted for centuries as an immense motive power of the Slovene spirit and the space of free expression of creative diversity.

The first written documents in the Slovene language date from the 10th century, the first Slovene book was printed in 1550, and the Bible was translated into Slovene in 1584. By the end of the First World War Slovenes lived within the historic framework of the Austro-Hungarian Monarchy, and were one of the (constituent) nations of Yugoslavia from 1918 until its dissolution in 1991. In the period of crisis of the socialist system and after the fall of the Berlin Wall, Slovenia exercised its right to self-determination and declared independence; Slovenia opted for an independent path within a new state. What was left from the old country were memories, personal, economic and cultural ties – and the Embassy in Washington, into which we have now breathed new, more inviting and transparent view.

Today, the building in the US capital that once represented several nations is a symbol of the Republic of Slovenia. In the first half of 2008 it will become a meeting point of numerous European nations, as Slovenia will assume its most responsible international role to date – the presidency of the European Union. Slovenia is contributing to European integration as an example of a small, variegated and open country, whose proactive European policy offers a tolerant and sincere vision of the Union's future.

There are many stories that will be captured within the walls of the new Embassy. These walls are now presenting original personal views and stories about the country, revealed in the works of 24 Slovene artists, members of Fine Artists Society Ljubljana. A group of internationally renowned artists, painters, sculptors, graphic artists and photographers, have chosen their creations for this exhibition, celebrating the introduction of the new Embassy to its friends.

I believe that this remarkable display of contemporary fine arts will be a unique opportunity for the American public

Dežela kot umetniška slika

Samuel Žbogar, veleposlanik Republike Slovenije

to gain a new insight into Slovene art as well as the people of a small European country, where culture has always been an essential symbol of the nation's identity. Furthermore, I sincerely wish that the new building – like Slovenia herself – may become a lively meeting point of different people and colourful cultures, and that, when entering the new Slovene Embassy in the heart of Washington, each and every visitor may feel the country the building represents.

Slovenija je slikovita dežela s svojevrstnim ritmom. Evropska zgodovina je včasih s počasnimi, včasih hitrimi gibi, na platno slovenske zgodbe nanašala sloje barv. Ne glede na obdobja, pa je bila dežela vseskozi odeta v zeleno barvo. Barvo spokojnosti, sproščenosti, prvinskiosti in lepote.

Slovenski prostor je bil od nekdaj geografsko stičišče med alpsko krajino po eni strani, ter mediteransko kulturno krajino po drugi. Pestrost kultur, ki so se srečevale na prostoru, se odraža v vsakdanu in slovenski kulturi, ki je mnogo starejša kot država Slovenija. Slovenska kultura se je večinoma razvijala v razmerah, ki ji niso bile naklonjene, pa vendarle je bila ves čas mogočno gibalo slovenstva in prostor svobodnega izražanja ustvarjalne raznolikosti.

Prvi zapis v slovenskem jeziku sega v 10. stoletje, prvo tiskano knjigo smo dobili 1550 leta, prevod Biblije v slovenskem jeziku 1584 leta. Do konca 1. svetovne vojne smo živeli v zgodovinskem okviru avstroogrške monarhije, po letu 1918 pa v okviru Jugoslavije kot eden njenih konstitutivnih narodov vse do njenega razpada. Slovenija je po zrušitvi berlinskega zidu, ob krizi socialističnega sistema, uveljavila pravico do samoodločbe in leta 1991 razglasila neodvisnost. Odločila se je za samostojno pot in samostojno državo. Od stare države so ostali spomini, medčloveška, gospodarska in kulturna povezanost in ostala je stavba veleposlaništva v Washingtonu, ki smo ji vdihnili sodobno, bolj vabljivo in transparentno podobo.

Zgradba, ki je nekoč v prestolnici ZDA predstavljala več narodov, danes predstavlja državo Slovenijo. že v začetku leta 2008 bo zgradba ponovno stičišče predstavnikov številnih evropskih narodov. V prvi polovici leta 2008 bo Slovenija prevzela mednarodno najodgovornejšo vlogo - predsedovanje Evropski uniji. Slovenija k procesu evropskega povezovanja prispeva prav s svojim zgledom majhne na raznolikosti osnovane in navzven odprte države, ki s svojo proaktivno politiko videnja Europe ponuja strpno in odprto vizijo za prihodnost skupnosti.

V zidove zgradbe novega veleposlaništva se bo ujelo veliko zgodb. Svojevrstne lastne zgodbe in zgodbe dežele pa bo na zidovih zgradbe moč videti skozi umetnine 24 slovenskih ustvarjalcev, ki so člani Društva likovnih umetnikov Ljubljana. Mednarodno uveljavljeni umetniki, slikarji, kiparji, mojstri grafike ter fotograf, so zbrali svoja dela za uvodno razstavo, s katero novo veleposlaništvo odpira vrata svojim prijateljem.

Verjamem, da bo imenitna razstava sodobne likovne umetnosti ameriški publiku dala edinstveno priložnost, da razširi svoje znanje o slovenski umetnosti in prebivalcih male dežele sredi Evrope, ki so imeli kulturo za enega osrednjih znakov svoje identitete. Želim si, da bi tudi nova zgradba - kot je Slovenija sama - postala živahno stičišče različnih ljudi in raznolikih kultur. Da bi ob vstopu v novo slovensko predstavništvo sredi Washingtona začutili Slovenijo.

MOVEMOMENT – searching for artistic identity

On the occasion of an exhibition of contemporary Slovenian art from Ljubljana

In a time that is highly conscious of the significance of visual representation, that, as it were, demands that various events be validated through visualization, that they be visually represented so as to assert their being "true" – in this time it seems as though the various forms of expression in contemporary fine (and also visual) art have somehow been lagging behind: perhaps due to the global visual saturation, which seems to leave no space (anymore) for valuation, for forming a set of values in the context of (the former) expressiveness, of conveying a message. Is the (visual) medium really a message already per se, each in its own more or less impersonal (unoriginal) form, or is there still room for an artist's personality to reveal itself amidst the general anonymity – can we, in this time, still find new forms of artistic identity?

These are certainly questions that excite the art world today, that is, that part of it that will never give in to the trend of total digitalization and that successfully combines modern technology with personal experience, employing the new "tools" in order to expand the possibilities of personal expression.

The artists selected, 24 in all, are representatives of a people that strove for the expression of its nationhood in the multifarious space of Europe for a long time, finally managing to achieve it in the 1990s. As contemporary visual artists they are all fully aware of the issues mentioned above, and they confront them, each in his or her chosen field of expression.

Contemporary visual art still recognizes the importance of the painting (tableau). As numerous other, also purely conceptual, realizations of artistic ideas appeared, the painting never lost its position of being parallel and equal to the contemporary visual languages. This is true also of the art of the eleven Slovenian painters presented in this show. In the works of a number of painters ranging between modernism and postmodernism – Bensa, Muc, Omerzu, Bernik, Gorenc, Kajfež, Mavšar – we can recognize and perceive time and again a new (or renewed or even wholly innovative) presence of the figure, in the sense of the figure as the central subject, with an artistically more or less convincing dimension, defined in terms of space as well as purely mentally. Sever represents a renewed interest in Art Informel, Vrezec explores abstract, organic structures, Flis and Butina the world of abstract signs, while Kirbiš pursues the sophisticated language of new abstraction.

The sculptor Tobias Putrih's free-hand drawings tracing singularly rational and at the same time playful modular-spatial abstract constructions. Mojca Smerdu's sculptures are reflections of a spontaneous construction of a vertical sculptural mass with a barely discernible organic associative trait. The refined symbolism of Alenka Vidgar, the metaphorical figuration of Bojan Mavšar, and the explicit color emphases in the stereometric language of Jožef Vrščaj and Jurij Dobrila are the other sculptural solutions presented.

The diversity of artistic identities in the language of contemporary graphic art is clearly displayed by four artists: from the current trend of geometric art exploring color in the traditional techniques of linocut and color etching and drypoint by Mojca Zlokarnik and Hamo Čavrk, to the iconic and figurative-associative elements in the digital prints of Zora Stančič and Damijan Kracina, respectively.

The three photographers selected, Barbara Jakše Jeršič, Stane Jeršič and Dragomil Bole, represent the new function of contemporary photography as the medium of representation that has surpassed the basic function of documenting events in the physical world and constructed a meditatively profound, even introverted attitude to the subject.

MOVEMOMENT – v iskanju umetniške identitete

Ob razstavi sodobne slovenske likovne umetnosti iz Ljubljane

V času, ki se že sam po sebi zaveda pomena vizualizacije, pravzaprav pa tudi zahteva, da se z vizualizacijo dogajanje uveljavlja raznотera dogajanja, da se vizualno ponazorijo in nas na tak način spet prepričujejo o svoji resnični »verodostojnosti«, v tem času torej so raznolike pojavnosti v sodobni likovni (tudi vizualni) umetnosti zastale nekje zadaj: zadaj zaradi uvodoma omenjene globalizacijske vizualne preplavljenosti, kjer kot da ni (več) prostora za vrednotenje, se pravi za vzpostavljanje vrednostne lestvice v kontekstu (nekdanje) izraznosti, sporočilnosti. Je res (vizualni) medij že sam po sebi sporočilo, v vsaki svoji, bolj ali manj brezosebni (neizvirni) obliki, ali je še ostalo kaj prostora za razkrivanje avtorske osebnosti v splošni anonimnosti – smo lahko v tem času še na sledi novodobnim oblikam umetniške identitete?

Prav gotovo so to vprašanja, ki vznemirjajo umetniški svet dandanes, tisti svet, ki se pač nikoli ne bo predal trendu totalne digitalizacije in ki uspeva novodobno tehnologijo povezati z osebnostno izkušnjo ter prav s pomočjo novih »orodij« razširiti možnosti lastnega sporočanja.

Vsi izbrani umetniki, 24 po številu, so skupaj predstavniki naroda, ki si je v dolgoletnem boju za svojo nacionalno identiteto sredi raznolikega evropskega prostora le-to tudi v 90. letih preteklega stoletja dejansko zagotovil; kot sodobni vizualni umetniki se na začetku omenjene problematike krepko zavedajo in se, vsakdo na svojem izraznem polju, z njo tudi soočajo. Sodobna vizualna umetnost še vedno priznava obstoj slike. Tudi razvoj številnih drugačnih, tudi samo konceptualiziranih udejanjanj umetniških zamisli ni uspel izničiti slike kot enakovredne paralele sodobni vizualni gvorici. Ta ugotovitev velja za vso izbrano slovensko slikarsko enašterico.

V razponu med modernizmom in postmodernizmom je pri nekaterih (Bensa, Muc, Omerzu, Bernik, Gorenč, Kajfež, Mavšar) mogoče vedno znova priznati in dojemati nov (ali obnovljen ali tudi povsem inovativni) pojav figure, figurativnosti kot nosilca teme, in sicer z njeno avtorsko bolj ali manj prepričljivo dimenzijo. Dimenzijo, ki jo definira prostorska kot tudi čisto mentalna dimenzija. Ob obnovljenem pojavi informela (Sever) in abstraktnej, organsko-strukturni raziskavi (Vrezec), se Flisova in Butina gibljeta v abstraktnem značkovnem svetu, medtem ko Kirbiš pristaja na sofisticirani jezik nove abstrakcije.

Kipar Tobias Putrih v svojih prostoročnih risbah spleta svojevrstno racionalno, a hkrati igrivo modularno-prostorsko abstraktno konstrukcijo. Plastično telo Mojce Smerdu je odraz spontanega izgrajevanja vertikalne kiparske gmote s komaj sluteno organsko asociativnostjo. Izčiščena simbolika Alenke Vidrgar, figurativna prispodoba Bojana Mavšarja in izrazito barvno akcentuirana stereometrična gvorica Jožefa Vrščaja ter Jurija Dobrile predstavljajo nadaljnje kiparske rešitve med izbrano predstavljenog sedmico.

Raznoterost umetniških identitet v sodobni grafični gvorici nazorno izpričuje naslednja četverica: in sicer, od aktualnega trenda barvno raziskovalnega geometrizma (Mojca Zlokarnik in Hamo Čavrk) v obnovljenih klasičnih tehnikah linoreza in barvne jedkanice s suho iglo, do ikonskega oziorama figurativno-asociativnega označevanja v digitalnem odtisu ozioroma tisku (Zora Stančič, Damijan Kracina).

Izbrana fotografksa trojica (Barbara Jakše Jeršič, Stane Jeršič in Dragomil Bole) pa zagotavljajo novo funkcijo sodobne fotografije kot tistega predstavitvenega medija, ki je presegel osnovno funkcijo dokumentiranja dogajanja v fizičnem svetu ter izgradil meditativno poglobljen, tudi introvertiran odnos do predstavitevne teme.
