

The Wooden Case

The wooden case is designed as a fine art substitute for regular wedding albums and photo books, and is reminiscent of traditional bridal dowry cases. The case is created from solid wood and it's an extremely fine crafted hand-made product with sharp and precise edges. The cover is attached to the base with 8 magnets and it can be removed completely and with ease. The selection of wood and dimensions can be discussed with each individual client. With Drejc and Ivana, we selected nutwood with natural wax varnish.

The prints are made on acid free archival paper with high quality inks. Every print is covered in protective paper. The idea behind this project is to make photo viewing as intimate as possible - it becomes a ritual, very much like the Japanese tea tradition. One has to take time, calm down and enjoy each photo at the time.

The case is an independent design object which can be used for other purposes as well.
